Dr. Theodorea Regina Berry:

Education is power and changes the lives of people and communities. Creating the most significant impact takes all of us.

Through meaningful partnerships, we aim to go beyond the boundaries of higher education and actively engage with diverse stakeholders, including local organizations, businesses, government agencies and residents. Our dedication to community-driven initiatives, service-learning projects, and research collaborations empowers us to unleash the potential of the Central Florida region and its citizens.

Text On Screen:
